NOVEMBER 2000

To Readers and Subscribers of ICAME Journal

Dear Colleague,

The year 2000 issue of ICAME Journal was the last printed version published by the HIT Centre.

The Centre will, however, still publish the electronic version of the journal.

There is work going on to establish contact with another publishing house in order to have the journal published in a paper version from the year 2001.

In the meantime, we kindly ask you not to pay any subscription dues for 2001.

We will notify you concerning new subscription arrangements well in advance of the publication of next year's issue. We do not expect any major change to the current subscription rate.

This change should not be taken as any sign that we are giving our services to the ICAME community any lower priority. Quite on the contrary, we will continue our maintenance and publication of the ICAME CD-ROM, and are now seeking co-operation with other partners to ensure a wider distribution of this publication.

Thank you for your interest in ICAME Journal.

Yours faithfully

Claus Huitfeldt
